Definition of “Traditional Photo” (TRAD)

Traditional photography preserves the original content of a single image with minimal adjustments that should not alter the reality of the scene and should look natural. Reordering, replacing, adding or removing any part of the original image except cropping is strictly prohibited. HDR (High Dynamic Range) and focus-stacking techniques, whether done in-camera or post-production, are strictly prohibited. (focus-stacking - understood as combining many images taken with different depth of field settings so as to finally obtain a greater depth of field).
